 - b. Only the CRO may handle the spoiled ballot. The CRO will destroy the spoiled ballot by tearing it into no less than four (4) pieces in view of the elections committee and disposing of it in the nearest paper recycling.
36. The Chief Returning Officer will obtain a record of Union members, as well as the constituencies to which they belong, from the appropriate authorities at the beginning of the school year, and will ensure that only those eligible to vote do so.
37. Each voter will present their University of King's College student identification card or their King's Students' Union International Student Identification Card as identification.
38. The option to re-open nominations will be included on every ballot.

Counting Procedure

39. The count will be conducted the night of the close of voting, on the King's campus.
40. Only members of the Elections Committee as per Section IX (9) of the Bylaws may count ballots.
41. The Chief Returning Officer will remove each ballot from the ballot box and read out loud the names marked. Two (2) members of the Elections Committee will independently record the votes read by the Chief Returning Officer during the above process.
 - a. Only the CRO may touch the marked ballots
 - b. The Chief Returning Officer will present the results of any online votes cast. Scrutineers may request to view proof of these results with all voters' identifying information removed at their request.
42. The Chief Returning Officer will keep the ballots for five (5) days after the election, pending appeals.
43. Each candidate may send one scrutineer to the count to observe and to lodge appeals and complaints on behalf of the candidates they represent. The scrutineer may be appointed at any time up until the close of balloting. Scrutineers may not also be candidates in any election that they are observing. Scrutineers' names will be made public.
44. The list of voters will be inspected by the Election Committee, and will then be open to inspections by the scrutineers.
45. Only members of the Elections Committee and the scrutineers may be present at the count.
46. Following the count, the Chief Returning Officer will notify Union members by midnight, by posting on Union notice boards in the King's Arts and Administration Building and outside the King's Students' Union office, of the unofficial vote totals of each candidate, still subject to appeal, and, where applicable, the bid to re-open nominations.
47. The procedures within the counting room are confidential.

Recounts and Appeals

48. The procedure for recounts is as follows:
 - a. Should the margin between the candidate with the most votes and the second-place candidate be less than five one-hundredths ($5/100$) of the total number of votes cast for that position, a recount will be conducted;
 - b. Should any candidate feel that the Elections Committee has violated the elections regulations outlined in the Bylaws, the candidate may request a recount;
 - c. The recount must be requested within eight (8) hours of the count, and the request must be made in writing to the Chief Returning Officer to conduct the recount by midnight of the day following the election;
 - d. The recount will be conducted according to Section 8 of this Election Policy;
 - e. Recounts for each position will be conducted only once.
49. Should any candidate feel that the Elections Committee violated this Election Policy, the candidate may make an appeal.
 - a. The appeal must be requested within twenty-four (24) hours of the notice of disqualification or the release of unofficial results, and must be made in writing to the Chair who will issue a ruling within forty-eight (48) hours of receiving the appeal;
 - b. Pending a candidate appeal, the election may be delayed forty-eight (48) hours, or, should that election already have taken place, the results will not be official until all appeals have been resolved;
 - c. The decision of the Chair on any appeal is final.
50. Should a candidate be disqualified from an election during or after balloting, the Elections Committee will reschedule the election, without that candidate and without re-opening nominations, as soon as possible at the discretion of the Elections Committee.

Elections under Extraordinary Circumstances

51. In extraordinary circumstances that make it impossible to conduct the entire election process in person, elections may be held remotely. The existence of extraordinary circumstances will be ruled on by the Chair of the Union. The CRO will draft a plan for modified elections procedure that must adhere to the following tenets:
 - a. That all components of the election take place online, and that there be no physical or in-person component to the election whatsoever. This includes physical campaign materials.
 - b. Basic tenets of KSU elections procedure described in Appendix A of the Bylaws must be upheld, including, but not limited to; voter anonymity, counting of votes by the CRO and elections committee, strike procedures, voting accessibility, etc.
 - c. Every student may vote only once per position.

- d. The KSU will make all candidate platforms available online rather than beside the polling station. This does not constitute third party campaigning.
 - e. A secure virtual record of votes must be kept in place of physical ballots. This record will be kept for five (5) days by the CRO, in case of recounts or appeals.
 - f. The CRO must ensure that the new procedures of the election are clearly communicated to the candidates and the general membership.
52. The CRO will submit the modified elections plan to the elections committee for their approval, no later than five (5) days before nominations open.
53. If extraordinary circumstances arise at a time after the electoral process has begun (i.e. any point after nominations have opened and before the results are announced), the CRO will consult with Elections Committee on whether to stay the electoral process for later continuation or to proceed in accordance with Appendix A, subsection 48 of the Bylaws. Elections Committee will submit their recommendation in writing to the Chair, who will issue a ruling within forty-eight (48) hours of receiving the recommendation.
54. If an election held under extraordinary circumstances is continuously failing to reach quorum in one (1) or more of the elected positions after two (2) weeks of voting extensions by rulings of the Chair, and the rate at which votes are submitted is insufficient to reaching quorum within a reasonable amount of time, the following measures are to be followed:
- a. Elections Committee will meet immediately following the two (2) week mark, and will decide whether the rate of votes cast at that time are sufficient to reach quorum within one (1) more week of extensions;
 - b. The Chief Returning Officer (CRO) will reach out to all candidates involved in the election(s) in question, and request their approval or disapproval of calling the election early;
 - i. If any candidate does not provide their consent, the election continues as is, and Elections Committee may meet on this subject again within one (1) week.
 - c. If Elections Committee decides in favour of calling the election early, and the unanimous consent of the candidates involved in a given election is provided, the CRO will immediately provide a public report to the membership, informing them that the election will be called within five (5) days of the publishing of the report.
 - d. If any general member wishes to appeal the decision of Elections Committee, they may appeal directly to the Chair, who will provide a ruling either within twenty-four (24) hours or, if there is less than a day before the five (5) day deadline is reached, at any time before the deadline.
 - i. If the Chair rules in favour of the appeal, the five (5) day period ends, and the election continues for one more week, at which time Elections Committee may begin this process again

- e. If quorum is reached before the five (5) day appeal period ends, then the election(s) are called and elections procedure proceeds in accordance with the Elections under Extraordinary Circumstances clause.
